TRINITY COLLEGE
CAMBRIDGE

Further Particulars for the role of
Wren Tourist Custodian

July 2023
Further particulars

Trinity College, founded in 1546 by Henry VIII, is the largest College in the University of Cambridge, with over 700 undergraduates, 350 graduate students, 190 Fellows and around 350 non-academic staff. With a history that includes Newton and Byron, the College excels academically in the sciences and the arts. It attracts students and scholars from around the globe and provides an environment in which they can flourish.

The Library occupies four buildings, but is run as a single organisation:

- The Wren Library, completed in 1695, houses some 80,000 older books and serves as the reading room for special collections as well as being open to tourists daily
- The College Library is adjacent to the Wren Library and provides around 100 seats for students. Together with a basement store, this building houses more than 200,000 books
- A separate Law reading room provides books and study space for Law students
- The Muniments Room houses the College’s Archives, dating from the twelfth century to the present day

The printed books are catalogued online using Folio as the ILS, as well as in the University’s online catalogue, iDiscover, and in appropriate specialist catalogues (ESTC, LibraryHub, etc.). Descriptions of the 1250 medieval manuscripts, catalogued by M. R. James in 1901-3, are available online, and modern manuscripts and archives are catalogued using the AtoM system. The Wren Digital Library provides images of more than 1000 complete volumes, and its continued expansion and development will be a major project for the Library in coming years.

The College Library is open to members of the College between 8 am and 1 am daily in term-time, with slightly reduced hours in the vacation. The Sub-Librarian prepares a rota of library staff and desk supervisors who staff the main desk throughout the opening hours. A self-issue borrowing system has been introduced in recent years.

The Wren Library is open to Fellows, and to visiting researchers applying to consult special materials, from 9 to 5 on weekdays. The study desk can accommodate up to six researchers each day, and is invigilated at all times. The Wren is open to tourist visitors between 12 and 2 on weekdays, and on Saturday mornings in Full Term, and two Custodians are present for this period to oversee the visitors. There are around 25,000 visitors each year during this time, and several thousand more attend separate tours at other times of day, including special interest groups, schools visits and VIP visitors to Cambridge, for whom a visit to the Wren Library is often included as a memorable part of their trip. These tours are generally led by the Sub-Librarian or the Librarian.

The Library’s staff comprise the Librarian, Sub-Librarian, Senior Assistant Librarian, Assistant Librarian, the Digitisation Services Manager, Digitisation Assistant, Rare Books Cataloguer, a Graduate Trainee and five Library Assistants (full-time or part-time); the College Archivist is presently complemented by two Assistant Archivists; two Wren Custodians invigilate during tourist opening hours, and a Library Cleaner. In addition, there are a number of Desk Supervisors who cover the Enquiry Desk out-of-hours.
JOB DESCRIPTION

Job Title: Wren Tourist Custodian
Department: Library
Reports to: Sub-Librarian

Purpose of role
The Wren Tourist Custodians provide a professional and warm welcome to visitors to the Wren Library. The primary function of the role is to control the number of visitors accessing the Library at any one time and to act as a security presence within the Library space. Wren Tourist Custodians also answer any questions visitors may have about the Library building and its collections. The Library employs two Tourist Custodians to manage visitors in the space and the two post-holders must work very closely together to ensure the smooth opening of the Library.

Key Accountabilities

1. To control the number of people in the Library at any one time to an agreed limit. Working closely with the second Custodian to ensure a regular flow of people enter the space.
2. To manage the queue of people waiting to enter, ensuring they are aware that the Library may close before they are admitted and managing visitors’ expectations.
3. To monitor visitors in the Library space ensuring they do not enter bays or attempt to remove books from shelves, and to guard against theft.
4. To ensure Library rules are observed including considerate mobile ‘phone use and that no food or drink is brought into the Library.
5. To record daily statistics of numbers of visitors.
6. To prepare the Library for opening by securing keys and opening the conservation curtains in the bays.
7. Any other duties as required by the Sub-Librarian.
