Pre-interview and interview notes for applicants

October 2020

This document contains important information about interviews and admissions assessments for each subject, information about any written work you may need to submit, and information on any reading you may need to prepare for interviews. Please read the relevant sections of this information carefully as you will not receive a further notice of anything you are required to do.

The first section is general information (starting on page 2)

1) December interviews

2) Written assessments

3) Graphics tablets

4) Applicants being interviewed by the overseas interview teams

5) Decisions and the January pool

6) Written work

General Information

(The information in sections 1-3 of this document does not apply to applicants who have already arranged to be interviewed by our team of overseas interviewers, unless specifically stated.)

Interviews will be held in the period from Monday 7th December 2020 to Wednesday 16th December 2020. If you have unavoidable engagements during this period you must let us know as soon as possible since it is very difficult to change interview arrangements once you have been notified. We are unable to arrange interviews outside our scheduled interview times except in extreme circumstances. We will let you know if you are being invited to interview in the week beginning 23rd November. It is not possible to notify anyone of interview dates or times any earlier than this.

If you are selected for interview, you will receive details by email in due course. Meanwhile, please read the notes that follow for specific interview instructions.

Our intention is to hold all Interviews in December 2020 on-line, via the platform Zoom (https://zoom.us/). Please register an account if you do not have one already; there is no charge for this. There is a separate questionnaire that is being circulated in mid-October asking you about your access to a stable internet connection, a computer and a video camera. If you do not anticipate being able to arrange such facilities, it is important to explain this on the questionnaire. We would like you to be wherever you can reliably access and participate in a video conversation, are unlikely to be interrupted, and feel most comfortable. This could be at home, at your school, or in another location which will be accessible to you. If you anticipate any problems with this, please let us know in the questionnaire, and we may be back in touch with further questions. If unexpected connection problems occur during the interview, please don't worry – if the problems cannot be addressed during the interview and prevent us from talking with you to a significant extent, we will try to rearrange the interview with you.

When you complete this questionnaire, you will be asked to read and sign a statement that you will not share information that comes out of your interviews, nor permit others to share such information. This includes circulating to others the documents or images sent to you as part of your interview. Furthermore, it strictly prohibits the recording of the interviews or knowingly permitting others to record your interview. Trinity College would take any breach of this policy extremely seriously, and would ask UCAS to activate its authority to terminate your application, not only to the University of Cambridge but to all other universities to which you have applied in the UK.

If you are invited to interview, we strongly encourage you to log in for each of your interviews 10 minutes in advance. You will be met there by some of our student helpers, who will make sure your technology is working well. They will pass you through to the interviewers at the appropriate time.

The interviews themselves will be with one or more members of the teaching staff in the subject you intend to study in the first year. All admissions interviews at Trinity are subject-specific.

Some subjects have written assessments to be taken at a school or authorised test centre on 4th or 5th November: Chemical Engineering, Computer Science, Economics, Engineering, English, Land Economy, Medicine and Natural Sciences. These assessments have to be taken by all applicants, including those being interviewed overseas. You should have already registered for these assessments. It is important to notify us immediately if you are unable to attend an assessment that you were scheduled to take.

In some subjects, candidates invited to interview will be asked to take a separate test usually in the week before your interview, and more details are listed below with the relevant subject. In some subjects, this test will be taken under conditions of remote invigilation. That is, you will be asked to work on paper while you have a camera on, and then be asked to take a picture of your work, which you will upload for us to see. This is so that we can be confident no candidate is receiving assistance in taking the test from someone else. Subjects requiring remote invigilation will include Chemical Engineering, Computer Science (for the CSAT), Engineering, Music, and Natural Sciences (for the maths fluency test). More details will be sent to you if you are invited for interview.

3) GRAPHICS TABLETS

For candidates being interviewed in Chemical Engineering, Computer Science, Engineering, Mathematics, Medicine and Natural Sciences, you will need to have access to a graphics tablet (or 'drawing tablet') during your interview. This could be an iPad or another device plugged into your computer. A typical such device is a Wacom One with a stylus (pen) which costs about £36.00 to purchase. This is so that we can see what you write during the interview, such as if we ask you to make some calculations. There is no need to buy anything other than a small sized device. If you are in a subject that requires a graphics tablet, and you have not used one before, we strongly recommend you practise with one before your interview. If you are interviewed for a subject that requires a graphics tablet, you will be using the Zoom whiteboard during your interview. To try this out, on Zoom, click 'share screen', and then 'whiteboard'.

We recognise that this imposes an additional cost upon you, although you will not have to pay for transport to Cambridge for the interview. You will almost certainly need to use a graphics tablet if you go on to study at a leading University in a subject that is requiring it here for interview, and so it is a worthwhile investment. However, if you are from a low-income family (for example, if you are in receipt of free schools meals), please let us know and we will order one for you. We will expect you to return the graphics tablet to us by post once the interviews are over.

Some of our current students have offered to help with practice in using a Zoom whiteboard, especially if you are unfamiliar with this technology. There will be practice sessions in the week before your interview for which you can sign up. Although these sessions are designed for students who will be using a whiteboard, you are also welcome to join if you would just like to check your facilities are suitable for a Zoom conversation.

4) APPLICANTS BEING INTERVIEWED BY THE OVERSEAS INTERVIEWERS

If you are being interviewed by the Cambridge overseas teams in Malaysia, Singapore, Hong Kong or Shanghai, you should still upload any written work that is requested for your subject in the subject-specific notes in this document. Aside from that, you should follow the interview procedures outlined in the country-specific notes for the country concerned, details of which will be sent to you by the relevant Overseas Application Centre, not those in other parts of this document. You may be asked to have a further video interview with relevant Trinity interviewers, and if this becomes necessary we will send you further details of what you will need to do.

5) DECISIONS AND THE JANUARY POOL

Our plan is to send you the decision about your application on 25th January (although this date may be changed – we will let you know if so). There is a possibility that, if your application is placed in the inter-College 'Pool', you may be invited for another interview in mid-January. It is important that we have both the address and a telephone number at which you can be contacted then. If you intend to be at the home address given on your application, no action is required; if you will be elsewhere, you must send us the details as soon as they are known. You should also let us know if you are not available for interview in mid-January.

6) WRITTEN WORK

Candidates for some subjects are required to upload scans of written work, on a link that will be provided to you. The scan of each piece submitted should be turned into a single pdf file with a cover sheet. The cover sheet and details of how to create the scan are available at: https://www.undergraduate.study.cam.ac.uk/digital-document-upload.

Please look at the relevant subject paragraphs in this document for further information about what we would like you to submit (if anything). For all written work the following information applies:

- The deadline for written work to be submitted is Thursday 5th November 2020.
- On the written work, before you scan it, please number the pages.
- Your written work may be marked or unmarked but it should be completed as part of your schoolwork unless specifically stated below. Unless stated below, it is acceptable to submit a piece of work even if it is not linked to the subject you propose to study at Cambridge. In general, we would like to see work that best reflects your interests and abilities. We are deliberately flexible about this so that you are free to select pieces you would like us to read.

- It is best to submit recent work. However, the essays you submit do not have to have been written in your final year at school. For UK candidates, essays written for subjects in Year 12 would be fine if you have not yet produced anything suitable in Year 13. We do not expect gap year students to produce new work – please send in work from your A-levels (or equivalent).
- Please include on the cover sheet any information about the context in which you wrote each essay which may be useful to the person reading it. For example, how long you were given to do it (1 hour/3 days/3 weeks, etc), whether or not you were allowed to use a dictionary (say, in the case of foreign language essays) or other resources.
- Unless specified in the subject-specific notes, essays may be either handwritten or typed. We prefer that you submit your work exactly as you produced it at school/college. Accordingly, please do not worry about such details as formatting or whether or not you have included a bibliography.
- There is no word limit. Unless otherwise specified in the subject-specific notes, most candidates submit essays that are between 1,000 and 3,000 words long. When selecting work please note that we are looking for quality rather than quantity.
- All essays must be written in English, unless we have requested them to be written in a foreign language that you are applying to study at Cambridge. It is best to submit work that was originally written in English, however, any candidate who does not have suitable essays in English may translate work written in another language. We do not mind whether you translate the work yourself or have it officially translated.
- Any essays you send in should be pieces of work that you would feel happy to discuss in an interview. Your interviewers then decide whether or not to ask you about your written work. Please keep a copy of what you send as reference so that you can consult it before your interview.
- If, for any reason, you are unable to submit any written work, it is in your interests to write to us before the deadline to explain your circumstances.

Subject-specific Information

ANGLO-SAXON, NORSE AND CELTIC
- Upload two recent essays by Thursday 5th November 2020.
- Please ensure that you have absorbed the Guide to the ASNC Tripos (obtainable from The Secretary, ASNC, Faculty of English, 9 West Road, Cambridge, CB2 1QA; also available on the internet at http://www.asnc.cam.ac.uk/ which contains an introductory reading list. It would help if you have read two or three of the items on this list.
- You will have a single interview with two members of the teaching staff.
- There is no need for any additional technology beyond a computer, a webcam and a stable internet connection.

ARCHAEOLOGY
- Upload one recent essay by Thursday 5th November 2020.
- You will have a single interview with two members of the teaching staff.
- You may be asked to take a written test prior to the interview. You will be notified if this is required.
- There is no need for any additional technology beyond a computer, a webcam and a stable internet connection.

ARCHITECTURE
- Please upload your sample artwork as a single 6-page PDF. Further guidance on what this artwork could include is at https://www.undergraduate.study.cam.ac.uk/courses/architecture#entry-requirements (in the section headed 'portfolio'). Trinity has no further requirements to those listed in that section of the page. This document should be uploaded by 5th November 2020.
- You will have one interview with the Director of Studies in Architecture and another member of the teaching staff.
- All applicants invited to interview for Architecture are required to take written and practical assessments before the interview. It is split into two formats: Writing skills (30 minutes) and Graphic and spatial ability (30 minutes). A more detailed specification is on https://www.undergraduate.study.cam.ac.uk/courses/architecture#entry-requirements
- There is no need for any additional technology beyond a computer, a webcam and a stable internet connection.

ASIAN & MIDDLE EASTERN STUDIES
- Upload two recent, preferably marked, essays by Thursday 5th November 2020.
- If you are invited to interview, you will be interviewed by the Director of Studies in Asian and Middle Eastern Studies and one other specialist in the area in which you have expressed interest. It is expected that you will have done some reading concerning the relevant culture(s).
- You will be asked to read a short text prior to interview. This will be sent to you by email at a set time before your interview, on the same day. Further details will be sent to you if you are selected for interview.
- There is no need for any additional technology beyond a computer, a webcam and a stable internet connection.

CHEMICAL ENGINEERING
- Those applying for Chemical Engineering via Natural Sciences should follow the guidelines for Natural Sciences applicants and those applying for Chemical Engineering via Engineering should follow the guidelines for Engineering applicants.

CLASSICS
- Upload two examples of written work (such as essays, translations or compositions) by Thursday 5th November 2020.
- You will have separate interviews with two members of the Classics staff and may be asked to discuss the work you have submitted.
- You may also be interviewed by a Director of Studies in Classics in another college.
- You will be asked to take a written assessment prior to your interview. For those applying for the three-year course, this will be a translation exercise. Applicants for the four-year course are given a language learning aptitude test. Further details are at: https://www.undergraduate.study.cam.ac.uk/courses/classics#entry-requirements
- There is no need for any additional technology beyond a computer, a webcam and a stable internet connection.

COMPUTER SCIENCE
- All applicants are required to take the Cambridge Test of Mathematics for University Admission (CTMUA) on 5th November at an authorised centre local to them (for a lot of applicants, this will be their school/college). Further details are at: https://www.undergraduate.study.cam.ac.uk/courses/computer-science#entry-requirements
- If you are invited to interview, you will be asked to take the Computer Science Admissions Test (CSAT). Detailed information regarding the CSAT, including advice on how to prepare and sample questions, can be found at https://csat.io/. This test will be taken under conditions of remote invigilation (see p.2, above).
- You will have one interview with two members of the Computer Science staff. The interview will focus on scientific and mathematical topics.
- You will need to have a graphics tablet for your interview (see p.3), as well as a computer, a webcam and a stable internet connection.
- You do not need to submit any written work for this subject.

ECONOMICS
- All applicants are required to take the Economics Admissions Assessment on 5th November at an authorised centre local to them (for a lot of applicants, this will be their school/college). Details, including changes to this assessment from previous years, are available at: https://www.undergraduate.study.cam.ac.uk/courses/economics#entry-requirements
- You will have one interview, with two members of the Economics staff.
- You will be asked to read a short article prior to interview. This will be sent to you by email at a set time before your interview, on the same day. Further details will be sent to you if you are selected for interview.
- You do not need to submit any essays for this subject, and do not need any additional technology beyond a computer, a webcam and a stable internet connection.

ENGINEERING

- All applicants are required to take the Engineering Admissions Assessment on 5th November at an authorised centre local to them (for a lot of applicants, this will be their school/college). Details are available at: https://www.undergraduate.study.cam.ac.uk/courses/engineering#entry-requirements
- If selected for interview, candidates for Engineering at Trinity take a short (one-hour) test in the week prior to their interview. This test comprises maths and physics questions (a sample is available on the College website at: https://www.trin.cam.ac.uk/wp-content/uploads/engineering07.pdf). This test will be taken under conditions of remote invigilation (see p.2, above). In the interviews, you will not be asked to address problems that you could not tackle in this test.
- Candidates for interview will have two interviews each of about 30 minutes with different members of the teaching staff.
- You will need to have a graphics tablet for your interview (see p.3), as well as a computer, a webcam and a stable internet connection.
- You do not need to submit any written work for this subject.

ENGLISH

- Upload one recent essay by Thursday 5th November 2020. The essay should be of no more than 2,000 words, including any footnotes (though not including a bibliography, if you have one).
- All applicants are required to take the English Literature Admissions Test (ELAT) on 4th November at an authorised centre local to them (for a lot of applicants, this will be their school/college). Details are available at: https://www.undergraduate.study.cam.ac.uk/courses/english#entry-requirements
- Those invited for interview will receive two interviews. In one of the interviews, you will be asked more general questions about your reading and thinking. You may also be asked about the personal statement and the recent essay that you submitted in advance. During the other interview, we will ask you about one or two short pieces of writing that will be shown to you in the interview itself, and which we expect you will not have previously seen. This might be poetry, or prose, or both.
- There is no need for any additional technology beyond a computer, a webcam and a stable internet connection.

GEOGRAPHY

- Upload two recent essays by Thursday 5th November 2020. The essays should be of no more than 1,500 words, and should relate to contemporary geographical issues. If you are already studying geography, you should submit one human geography essay and one physical geography essay if possible.
- You will have a single interview with two members of the teaching staff.
- You may be asked to look at an article that will be sent to you before the interview. Further details will be provided to you if you are selected for interview.
- There is no need for any additional technology beyond a computer, a webcam and a stable internet connection.

HISTORY

- Upload two recent essays by Thursday 5th November 2020. If possible we would like one of these, but preferably not more than one, to be a 'timed essay', produced 'under exam conditions'.
- There will be two separate interviews each of about 30 minutes with members of the History staff. In one interview there will be a discussion of the essays you have submitted and on general historical matters and intellectual interests. This may include reviewing and discussing a short text or historical image that will be provided to you in the interview.
- For one interview, you will be asked to review documents provided to you by email in advance, at a certain time on the same day before your interview. You will be asked to write some notes on those documents which you will send to the interviewer and will discuss in the interview. Further details will be sent to you if you are selected for interview.
- There is no need for any additional technology beyond a computer, a webcam and a stable internet connection.

HISTORY & MODERN LANGUAGES

- Upload two recent essays by Thursday 5th November 2020. One of these should be in History and one in the language you wish to study.
- If you are selected for interview, you will be asked to take a modern languages test in the week before your interview. Further details will be sent to you if you if you are selected for interview.
- There will be two interviews, one in each subject. For the History interview, you will be asked to review documents provided to you by email in advance, at a certain time on the same day before your interview. You will be asked to write some notes on those documents which you will send to the interviewer and will discuss in the interview. Further details will be sent to you if you are selected for interview.
- For the Modern Languages interview, see the text under 'Modern and Medieval Languages', below.
- There is no need for any additional technology beyond a computer, a webcam and a stable internet connection.

HISTORY & POLITICS

- Upload two recent essays by Thursday 5th November 2020. We encourage you to submit a coursework essay or dissertation, not a text of short answers or a personal opinion piece. If your schoolwork does not include essays, it is best to ask your teacher to set you an essay to write in your own time, and to explain this on the coversheet.
- You can expect to have two interviews, each lasting between 25 and 40 minutes. The interviews may involve asking you to review and discuss short texts that will be provided to you during those interviews.
- There is no need for any additional technology beyond a computer, a webcam and a stable internet connection.

HISTORY OF ART

- Upload by Thursday 5th November 2020 an essay of not more than 500 words describing a building or work of art that you have seen and admired; if you are studying neither Art nor History of Art at school you may, if you wish, choose another topic with an artistic, literary or historical theme. This piece may be written for your application. (History of Art applicants can disregard the text on the cover sheet which tells them that the work submitted must not be written specially for Cambridge; if so, just put 'not applicable' in the box about examination subject.)
- You will have one interview of about 30 minutes with the Director of Studies in History of Art and another member of the teaching staff.
- There is no need for any additional technology beyond a computer, a webcam and a stable internet connection.

HUMAN, SOCIAL AND POLITICAL SCIENCES

- Upload two recent essays by Thursday 5th November 2020. We encourage you to submit a coursework essay or dissertation, not a text of short answers or a personal opinion piece. If your schoolwork doesn't include essays, it is best to ask a teacher to set you an essay to write, and to explain this on the coversheet.
- You should indicate at https://www.trin.cam.ac.uk/undergraduate/applying/information-for-current-applicants/hsps-preferences/ whether you are primarily interested at the moment in Social Anthropology, Politics and International Relations, or Sociology. This is purely so that we can plan suitable questions for your interview. Please enter your choices by Thursday 5th November 2020.
- You can expect to have two interviews, each lasting between 25 and 40 minutes. In one of these, you will be asked to review and discuss a short text that will be provided to you during the interview.
- There is no need for any additional technology beyond a computer, a webcam and a stable internet connection.

LAND ECONOMY

- All applicants are required to take the Thinking Skills Assessment on 5th November at an authorised centre local to them (for a lot of applicants, this will be their school/college). Details are available at: https://www.undergraduate.study.cam.ac.uk/courses/land-economy#entry-requirements
- You will have interviews with our Director of Studies in Land Economy and a member of the Economics teaching staff. You will be asked to look at an article that will be sent to you by email at a certain time before one of the interviews. Further details will be provided to you if you are selected for interview.
- You do not need to submit any essays for this subject, and there is no need for any additional technology beyond a computer, a webcam and a stable internet connection.

LAW
- If you are invited to interview, you will have one interview with two interviewers, led by a member of the teaching staff in Law. The interview will incorporate discussion of a short scenario, which will be communicated to you during the interview.
- You may be asked to take a written test before the interview. Further details will be sent to you if you are selected for interview.
- You do not need to submit any school essays for this subject, and there is no need for any additional technology beyond a computer, a webcam and a stable internet connection.
- Prior knowledge of, or education or training in, Law is not expected or required of candidates.

LINGUISTICS
- If you are invited to interview, you will have one interview with two members of the teaching staff.
- You will be asked to take a written assessment prior to your interview. Further details are at: https://www.undergraduate.study.cam.ac.uk/courses/linguistics#entry-requirements in the 2020 specification. We will send you further details if you are invited for interview.
- You do not need to submit any essays for this subject, and there is no need for any additional technology beyond a computer, a webcam and a stable internet connection.

MATHEMATICS
- You will have a single 50-minute interview with two members of the Mathematics teaching staff.
- In the interview, you will be presented with problems. Examples of the sorts of problems you will be asked can be found in the specimen tests at: https://www.trin.cam.ac.uk/undergraduate/courses/mathematics/
- You will need to have a graphics tablet for your interview (see p.3), as well as a computer, a webcam and a stable internet connection.
- You do not need to submit any written work for this subject.

MEDICINE
- All applicants are required to take the BioMedical Admissions Test (BMAT) on 4th November 2020. Further details are available at: https://www.undergraduate.study.cam.ac.uk/courses/medicine#entry-requirements
- There will be two interviews, each with members of the teaching staff in Medicine.
- You will need to have a graphics tablet for your interviews (see p.3), as well as a computer, a webcam and a stable internet connection.
- You do not need to submit any written work for this subject.

MODERN AND MEDIEVAL LANGUAGES
- Upload two recent pieces of coursework from your language A levels (or equivalent qualifications) by Thursday 5th November 2020. At least one should be in a foreign language. This should be standard coursework, with your teacher's comments. It helps us to find out more about you before we see you; we do not normally discuss it at interview.
- If you are selected for interview, you will be asked to take a modern languages test in the week before your interview. Further details will be sent to you if you if you are selected for interview.
- There will be two interviews, one for each of the languages you intend to study at Cambridge. Each interview will last 30 minutes and will include the following:
    - (a) Discussion (in English) of a short text which may be literary or non-literary, prose or poetry. You will be sent these texts by email at a certain time in advance of each interview, in order to read through them. For a language you are studying at A level, the text will be in the foreign language. You can expect to be asked questions about the language as well as the content; the aim is to provide you with an opportunity to show us your abilities as a language-learner and as a reader and interpreter of texts. For a language you are planning to take ab initio, you will be given either a simple passage in the foreign language (if you already have some knowledge of it) or one in English but related to the culture of the language in question.
    - (b) There will be a short conversation in a language you are already studying. The conversation will be geared to your current level of knowledge (e.g. A level, GCSE).
- There is no need for any additional technology beyond a computer, a webcam and a stable internet connection.

MUSIC

- You may, if you wish, upload no more than two examples of recent written work or compositions. This should be done by Thursday 5th November 2020.
- If you are selected for interview, you will be asked to take an extended test in the week prior to your interview. In one part of the test, you will be required to harmonize a Bach chorale melody. In the second part, you will take an analysis test where you will be asked to write about a short piece of music. This test will be taken under conditions of remote invigilation (see p.2, above). Further details will be sent to you if you are invited for interview.
- You will have two separate interviews each of about 20-30 minutes with members of the Music staff.

NATURAL SCIENCES

- All applicants are required to take the Natural Sciences Admissions Assessment on 5th November 2020 at an authorised centre local to them (for a lot of applicants, this will be their school/college). Details are available at: https://www.undergraduate.study.cam.ac.uk/courses/natural-sciences#entry-requirements
- You should visit https://www.trin.cam.ac.uk/undergraduate/applying/information-for-current-applicants/natsci-preferences/ by Thursday 5th November 2020. On this site, you should:
  - (a) list the subject which represents your main interest. You should choose just one subject out of three: Biology, Chemistry, or Physics. This is to help us select suitable interviewers for you.
  - (b) indicate which three sciences, in addition to Mathematics, you would hope to study in the first year. This information is not binding and is to be used to assist in selecting interviewers for you.
  - (c) indicate which Part II option you ultimately might wish to take. This information is not binding and is to be used for administrative purposes only.
- If you are selected for interview, in the week before the interview, you will sit a short test of fluency in mathematics. This is to check that you have the necessary skills to be able to cope with the compulsory mathematical part of the Tripos. A sample paper is available at: https://www.trin.cam.ac.uk/wp-content/uploads/nst-sample-maths2020.pdf. This test will be taken on paper under conditions of remote invigilation (see p.2, above): you are not permitted to use a calculator or the internet during this test.
- You will have two interviews with members of the Natural Sciences teaching staff.
- At interview you must be prepared to talk about your declared particular interests, or any of your A level (or equivalent) mathematical or science subjects.
- You will need to have a graphics tablet for your interview (see p.3), as well as a computer, a webcam and a stable internet connection.
- You do not need to submit any written work for this subject.

PHILOSOPHY

- Upload two recent essays by Thursday 5th November 2020.
- You will be asked to take a written assessment prior to your interview. Further details are at: https://www.undergraduate.study.cam.ac.uk/courses/philosophy#entry-requirements . We will send you further details if you are invited for interview.
- If you are invited to interview, you will have two separate interviews.
- You can best prepare by reading and thinking about the books listed at http://www.phil.cam.ac.uk/prosp-students/prosp-ugrad-readinglist. Professor Blackburn's book, Think, would be a good starting point if you have not so far read much on the subject, but you can find other suggestions for introductory reading on the Faculty of Philosophy website.
- There is no need for any additional technology beyond a computer, a webcam and a stable internet connection.

PSYCHOLOGICAL AND BEHAVIOURAL SCIENCES

- You will have a single interview with two members of the teaching staff.
- You do not need to submit any written work for this subject.
- There is no need for any additional technology beyond a computer, a webcam and a stable internet connection.

THEOLOGY, RELIGION, AND PHILOSOPHY OF RELIGION

- Upload two recent essays by Thursday 5th November 2020.
- You may be asked to take a written assessment prior to your interview. Further details are at: https://www.undergraduate.study.cam.ac.uk/courses/theology#entry-requirements . We will send you further details if you are invited for interview.
- You will have a single interview with two members of the teaching staff. You may also have a separate interview with the Director of Studies in Theology at another College.
- There is no need for any additional technology beyond a computer, a webcam and a stable internet connection.
